

XX COMMONWEALTH GAMES - GLASGOW 2014

Preparing for the largest multi-sport event ever held in Scotland.

With over two billion pounds being spent on infrastructure in Scotland's largest city, the Glasgow Commonwealth Games will be the largest multi-sport event ever held in Scotland.

Our EPG team provided strategic planning advice to the local organising committee (LOC) in areas such as event overlay & infrastructure cost planning, spectator services & event safety, including the provision of health and safety advice. In the strategic planning phase, we were also engaged to undertake an executive level security strategy review which we then developed into the spectator services strategic (SPS) plan. Covering all phases of the event life cycle, EPG were also contracted to project manage the physical services scope related to the event security infrastructure.

With spectator services being the largest and most visible workforce and often acknowledged as the 'Face of the Games', EPG has utilised its in-house expertise to assist the organising committee in defining the strategic approach for this critical function. In developing the SPS, we also contributed to the planning of the following spectator services deliverables:

- Management Structure
- Workforce Plan
- Venue & Public Domain Crowd Safety Plan
- Service Delivery Principles & Methodologies
- Operating Requirements
- Programme Budget & Roadmap
